the education of its youth.

Wow! Washington and New York will never be the same—nor will the seniors who made the October invasion! The gourmet meals on the Erie-Lackawana were only the beginning of the jokes, fun, and hysteria yet to come. “On your left is the Washington Monument—but it’s closed tonight. Moving right along now . . .” “Okay, who doesn’t belong here? There are two too many people on this bus!” “No, our bus isn’t broken, this bridge is just one of the stops on the tour. Well, we may as well take some more pictures.” Tiajuana Possee. “Souvenirs here, hey, get your souvenirs!”

“Remember—don’t let anyone in unless you’re sure who it is.” “This bedspread would be just beautiful in my room at home.” “Fire one! Fire two! Hey—hand me another waste basket!”

I've been gone a long time now, along the way I've learned some things.

You have to make the good times yourself

take the little times and make them into big times and save the times that are all right

for the ones that aren't so good.

Linguists Put Their Skills to Use

A special Christmas puppet show was written and constructed by Madame Rainey's advanced French students.

In the first and second years of languages students learned reading and basic grammar. The third and fourth years were spent preparing for the Indiana University Honors Program by reviewing and expanding vocabulary.

Utilizing their skills and understanding, German 3 students read Emil Und die Detektive; German 5, Die Verschwundene Detektive; and German 7, Kleider Machen Leute Der Richter und Sein Henker.

Spanish and French pupils learned the language and geography of their respective countries under study. Spanish classes used such films as "Viviendas Espanol," "Un Restaurante Madrilenio," and "El Sueno Dorado;" French classes, "Je Parle;" and Latin, "Italy" to aid them. Gavit's language lab gave students a chance to hear a foreign language in the native tongue.

"Eh! Toro!" cheer participants in Mrs. Sevald's Spanish 8 class's mock bullfight.

Latin scholars turn back the clocks of time as they enact a typical Roman orgy.

German linguists engage in that educating, thrilling and stimulating international game—Scrabble.

Curriculum Corresponds to Student Needs

Talented C. P. English 7 amateur actors perform the witches scene from MacBeth.

The ability to speak and write one's own language is essential for success. To meet this demand, Gavit offered college preparatory English, practical and general English, accelerated English, world literature, and developmental reading.

Practical English prepared students for the business world and everyday life by putting proper emphasis on proper speaking and writing. General English stressed literature, grammar, and writing. Emphasis was on vocabulary for college bound students in College Prep. There was also a six week study on reference books, a study of immense value for college. Shakespeare's writings, including Romeo and Juliet, Macbeth, and Julius Caesar, as well as other great literary figures, such as Chaucer, were explored by the students.

World literature was offered in place of last semester English. This course probed the history and influences of great literature. The Greeks and Romans were studied throughout the semester.

Ophelia's (Karen Farmer) death is mourned (excluding a few smiles here and there) by Joel Hochman, Anne Royal, Craig Muir, Dave Nelson, and Margo Pasko.

Senior Accelerated English actors perform Hamlet for fellow pupils.

Glads Probe Methods, Theorums, Concepts

It takes teamwork to solve this geometry proof, say Pam Smith and Janice Wargo.

This year a variety of math courses was offered to fulfill the needs of each individual student.

As usual, college prep classes struggled through algebra's equations, theorems, and formulas, geometry's proofs, and the logarithms of algebra-trig. For further study, math analysis was offered this year. In this more advanced class, mathematicians employed skills previously learned, while acquiring many new valuable ones useful for the college math tests given in the spring.

In the experimental math, U.I.-C.S.M., pupils again concerned themselves with self-discovery of concepts, as well as math theory and computation.

General math pupils learned to balance a budget, fill out and compute income tax forms, as well as to increase basic math skills.

UICSM pupil, Joanne Plunkett, demonstrates the proper use of the complicated slide rule.

Accelerated biology students, Brian Lawrence and Cindy Mote courageously become acquainted with an important member of the reptile family.

"He bent down, turned around, and gave me a wink, he said I'm gonna make it up right here in the sink. It smelled like turpentine, it looked like india ink." Figure it out, kids.

Amateur cytologists Dan Ford and Joanne Saltanovitz experiment with collordal systems

Continued interest has been shown once again in advanced biology, 3C-Cell Biology, advanced biology, 3A-Anatomy, and physiology; the latter two having been offered for the second consecutive year by popular demand. One of the highlights of cell biology was a semester project in which fruit flies were used to study genetics. In addition to the special fruit fly unit, cytological experimentalists studied cellular organelles, genetic characteristics in plants (in order to determine genetic ratios), made colloidal systems, observed rate of absorption in various substances, and studied the process of DNA and RNA replication in great length. Advanced Biology 3A was primarily involved with laboratory experiments using more complex animals than fruit flies.

Chemistry 1 and 2 were offered again this year. Budding chemists sought to understand different phases of substances through chemical activity and by proving, through extensive experimentation what was taught in the text.

Everything seems to be going in circles as Mike Gorman demonstrates properties of rotary motion.

And the race is on as physics students intensely observe aspects of acceleration of cylindrical objects.

Reactions Explode With New Meaning

Knowledge hungry health and safety scholars eagerly digest material—especially while under the watchful eye of Mr. J. Quinn.

Two new courses were introduced by the science department this year—Physical Science 1 and 2 and Physics 3 and 4.

Physical science, a combination of chemistry and physics, but with less emphasis on mathematics, was designed primarily for the non-science students planning to go to college but not to major in science. Students studied through experiments such topics as matter, electricity, sound, and light.

Amateur phycists probed subjects directly related to matter and energy in order to develop an understanding of these two basic concepts. Physics 3 and 4, a continuation of Physics 1 and 2, was taught for the college bound science student.

Aspiring Artists Express Individual Traits

While in art projects Peggy Ritz creatively makes a hook rug.

Drawing, painting, lettering, graphics, designing, and weaving were some of the limitless projects explored in Art I. This studio course was designed to make beginner artists aware of the fundamentals involved in art.

Art II was offered to students interested in developing personal techniques in artistry. Sculpture, ceramics, and carving were included in its curriculum to broaden the second semester artists' comprehension of art.

Art project's advanced pupils were free to select a project which would suit their own desires as well as extend their skills.

Art history covered the evolution of styles in painting of various historical periods, the influence of the past upon contemporary materials, and the role of art in society.

Superstaffers of the Futura ponder the age old question of "which picture should we put in?"

"Easy does it!" is the motto to follow as Sharon Britt helps girls in physical education to build an indestructible pyramid.

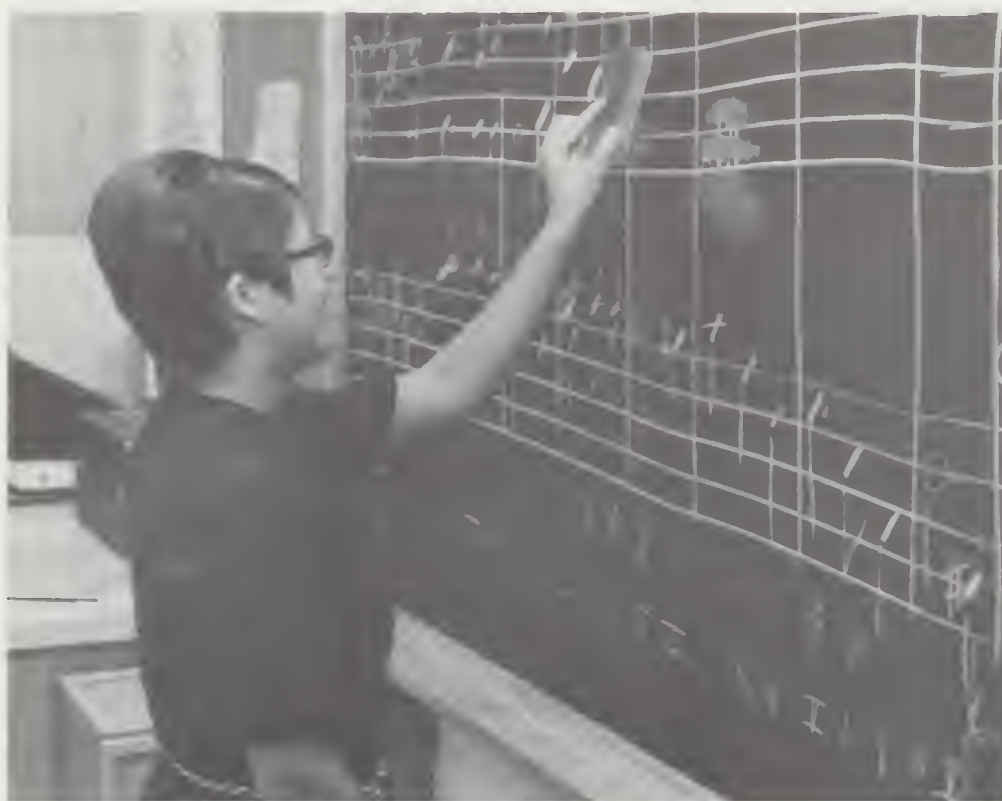

"And they said it couldn't be done!"

"On your mark, get set, GO!" yells Coach George Smith to wrestlers in Boy's P.E.

Girls Chorale Selected for National Honor

Polly Barten rearranges her musical score when she's reminded that Janis Joplin isn't allowed in Music Theory class.

The Gavit choir department, directed by Mr. Thomas T. Clark, began the year by making plans for concerts and engagements for the forthcoming season.

The Fall Concert ran smoothly with an array of numbers and the Christmas Concert presented the season in both cheerful and serious tones to an enthusiastic audience. The Spring Concert was most original by using a theme about the "Moon," giving special attention to the moon walk last July.

The Concert Choir held engagements throughout the city at the request of various churches. WJOB was happy to have the choir as their guests and aired their live performance of the Christmas cantata, entitled "Shepherds Rejoice."

Most rewarding of all events was the engagement held at the Sherman House in Chicago for the American Choral Directors Assn., Midwest Convention. Being the only school in Indiana chosen, their selection was considered to be an honor for Hammond, and especially for Gavit.

Glads Pursue Prosperity in Business World

Seniors Joel Hochman and Dave Huner-yager discuss legal term charts with teacher Earl Freuhling in Business Law.

A wide variety of classes were offered at Gavit this year in the stenographic, clerical, and book-keeping fields of business. These courses of study trained able students to step right into the business world upon graduation.

Stenography was offered to develop skills of students interested in a typing, stenographic, or secretarial position for a career. Speed and perfection were stressed in the four semester course of typing and the two semester course of shorthand. In transcription, a four semester course, emphasis was on the rapid reading of the student's own shorthand combined with the advancement of his typing potency. The secretarial practice course enabled the pupil to practice his secretarial skills to the organization and activities of a typical office.

In bookkeeping, the basic essentials of bookkeeping concepts, terminology, principles, and problems were among several general areas learned. Here, as in the stenographic course, typing with the addition of office machines, general business, business law, business English, and various other business electives were also taught.

Pupils Interpret Past to Understand Present

Everybody wants to get into the act as U.S. History students take time from their studies to pose.

The students' rights and duties as American citizens were stressed throughout various courses in the social studies department. This department attempted to produce within the young student an awareness of his human heritage and to instill within him a love for his country. Government, sociology, economics, psychology, and contemporary history courses outlined the world today, while world history, United States history, world geography, and Far East history offered the student a knowledge of the past, essential to an understanding of the present.

Critical thinking was developed as facts were presented and analyzed through the participation of students in heated discussions. Textbook lessons were supplemented by films, guest speakers, newspapers, student weeklies, field trips, and research papers.

The fascinating story of man unfolded as each student began to realize the true principles of democratic ideals manifested in his own enthusiasm, idealism, and loyalty.

Psychology students display their various backgrounds as they construct their family trees.

Chefs, Seamstresses Master Domestic Arts

Future chefs cautiously prepare to view their "homemade" creations.

This year Gavit's home economics department strove to give the entire Gavit populace—male and female a working knowledge of homemaking techniques.

Seamstresses acquired fundamental sewing skills, applying them to such basic projects as skirts, and jumpers in Clothing 1. They advanced to more difficult work with pleated skirts, pajamas and tailored blouses in Clothing 2. As students became even more skillful they undertook coat and suit projects, restyling and updating a wardrobe, and a dressy dress, by applying advanced sewing techniques taught in Clothing 3 and 4.

Gavit cooks concocted pastry, cakes, and other baked goods in Foods 2, while applying fundamentals learned in Goods 1. In Foods 3 future homemakers continued with their cookery while learning techniques of menu planning and budgeting. In boys foods, boys were offered the opportunity to become experienced in such homemaking necessities as table setting and manners, shopping and planning meals, and basic cooking principles.

Future Artisans Develop Industrial Arts

Mr. Molnar goes over the electrical system of a house with his future electricians.

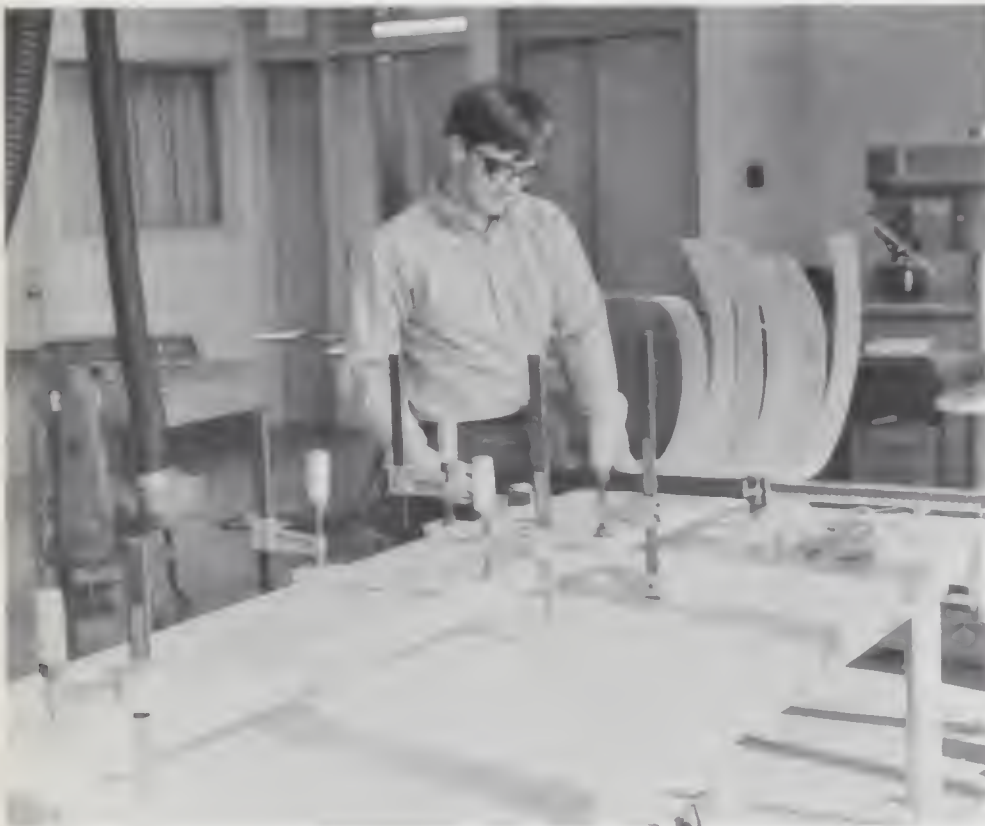

Gavit's industrial arts department again offered curricula varied enough to satisfy the demands and interests of each student. Graphic arts taught operation of the letterpress and offset printing presses. Students learned techniques and methods used in the paper and ink industry. In second semester they became familiar with processes of halftones, binding, and multi-color printing.

Novice mechanical drawing students concentrated on fundamentals of drawing instruments and then progressed to more advanced work; including sectional and pictorial drawing, as well as architectural drawing and home design.

In woodworking, aspiring craftsmen learned operation of woodworking tools and machines. They applied their skills through construction of a chosen project.

Industrious craftsman, Dale Keller, tries his hand at making a toboggan in wood shop.

The Gavit Speech Team, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Hayes, offered potential orators and actors an opportunity to demonstrate their talents at local, regional, and national speech meets. Categories members could choose to enter included humorous or dramatic interpretation, extemp, impromptu, discussion, oratory declamation, original oratory, and poetry. In December the speech team sent members to the Indiana High School Debaters Conference and Indiana Student Legislative Assembly at Purdue University, Lafayette Campus. Participants imitated congress, using strict parliamentary procedure, in forming bills in committees and then presenting them on the floor. Gavit received unique recognition as Rich Emerson became the only person from the Calumet Region to receive an award for being an outstanding Senator.

A new organization, usherettes, was created this year, and was officially incorporated as an important part of the drama department. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Roland Unkuri and the leadership of student director Michelle Koval, members ushered practically all Gavit functions; among them plays, instrumental and choral concerts, and Kiwanis travelogues. Ushering duties included handing out programs, keeping order in the audience, collecting tickets, and serving as a general source of information to persons unfamiliar with Gavit. As a special project this year, the usherettes raised almost two hundred dollars selling Gavit helmet banks. With their profits they bought classic, navy blue jumpers in order to be uniformly attired as they performed their various ushering duties.

Glads Lend Their Various Skills to Activities

Chess Club, under supervision of Mrs. Reinke, offered interested Glads an opportunity to maintain and develop their hobby. At each meeting members engaged in chess games, as well as carried on other orders of business, including money-raising campaigns. They sponsored profitable sale of Whis-Kits and candles, rewarded the most successful salesman with an Onyx chess set. A chess tournament between club members with chess sets, awarded to first, second, and third place winners, highlighted the first semester. In addition to the high school tournament, one was also held for talented Jr.-Hi. chessmen. During the spring, the club planned for a school-wide tournament open to any interested Glad.

Mat Maids Grace Wrestling Meets

MAT MAIDS—Joyce Murfin, Carol Squarcy, Nancy Colantonio, Connie Bradburn, Lynn Sandor, Pat Goldner, Pam Ferguson.

A new organization, the Mat Maids, graced wrestling meets this year at G.H.S. Mr. Tom Cameron, B-team wrestling coach, formed the group molded after similar collegiate clubs.

The Mat Maids consisted of girls interested in promoting and establishing wrestling as the number one sport at Gavit, and were the major source of workers at wrestling meets. Their duties consisted of keeping official score and time of the matches, operating the electric scoreboard, and helping keep track of the dual meet scores.

Along with their activities at meets, they promoted spirit through signs and enthusiastic cheering. And, of course, the Mat Maids had an opportunity to get acquainted with the wrestlers!

Members included: Lynn Sandor, Linda Biancardi, Nancy Colantonio, Carol Squarcy, Patty Goldner, Barb Hoffman, Matie Sanders, Joyce Murfin, Connie Bradburn, and Terri Zuffa.

Regal Queens Reign Over Their Domain

FOOTBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN—Robin Blosky.

BASKETBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN—Julie Klapkowski.

PROM QUEEN—Bonnie Haley.

BASKETBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN—Julie Klapkowski.

Romeo, Juliet Inspires "Till It Be Morrow"

Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet provided the atmosphere for "Til It Be Morrow," the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom held on May 16, 1969. Candlelight, garlands, and pillars enhanced the Knights of Columbus Hall, transforming it into the Capulet's courtyard.

The evening was beautiful, as only Prom night can be, bringing with it white tuxes, pastel formals, sweet flowers, and lingering perfume.

Later, the two hundred couples present watched Joel Hochman, Junior Class President, lead the coronation ceremonies. Bonnie Haley, escorted by Larry Lubontina, was crowned Prom Queen. Her court included Linda Biancardi, escorted by John Sanders; Nancy Colantonio, escorted by Don Salczynski; Diane Klobuchar, escorted by Don DeArmond; and Karen Farmer, escorted by Jeff DeArmond.

"How about going to Mac's?" Ron Kohut casually suggests to Pat Dacey.

1969 Prom Queen and her court were Diane Klobuchar, escorted by Don DeArmond; Nancy Colantonio, escorted by Don Salczynski; Queen Bonnie Haley, escorted by Larry Lubontina; Linda Biancardi, escorted by John Sanders; and Karen Farmer, escorted by Jeff DeArmond.

Smiling radiantly, Bonnie Haley, Prom Queen of 1969, poses shortly after her coronation.

Bums, Skits and Parade Highlight Festivities

Gavit's 1969-70 Homecoming festivities began in full swing with a Pep Rally the evening before the game. Following Morton's death march, performed by the Bleacher Bums, several skits were presented by some students and faculty members. Suspense in the crowd mounted as Mr. Football, Joel Hochman, was announced. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of junior Robin Blosky, escorted by Pat Lain, as Gavit's 1969-70 Football Homecoming Queen. Robin's court included Linda Biancardi escorted by Dan Mansueto; Julie Klapkowski escorted by Brian Bell; Nancy Witter escorted by Dave Huneryager; and Bonnie Haley escorted by Ivan Lewis.

Homecoming Day's celebrations started with the annual Homecoming Parade consisting of twenty-six entrants. For the first time in Gavit's history there was a tie for first in the class float category between the senior float themed "Sting 'Em!" and the sophomore float, entitled "We're Expecting a Victory."

Bums Ed Carter and Jim Duffala "hoop" it up before the game.

Glads Jubilant as They Saddle the Mustangs

Victory-minded Glads excitedly cheer their team on.

January 23, 1970, marked Gavit's fifth annual Basketball Homecoming. The announcement of Ed Carter as "Best Bum" launched the half-time activities. This award was a first in the history of homecoming festivities. Senior Julie Klapkowski was crowned 1970 Basketball Homecoming Queen by last year's queen, Linda Biancardi. Julie's court included Karen Farmer, Lenore Kaminski, Debbie Medwetz, and Nancy Witter. The drill team provided entertainment with their routine to "Sugar, Sugar."

Joyful Gladiators got their chance to celebrate (celebrate!) their victory over Munster at the dance that followed the game. The World Column's heavy sounds vibrated throughout the cafeteria and entertained all.

"Beautiful dance, terrible time," says Rod Cook as he jokingly puts date Jeri Gooch in her place.

Tommie the Commie and the Wild Bunch, with their women, plan for the revolution.

And Gavit's Social World Thrives On

Following tradition, the senior class sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance. Refreshments of apple cider and doughnuts were served. Tables with checkered tablecloths and centerpieces made from Michelobe bottles and marigolds completed the decorations. To add to the atmosphere all the couples were dressed down as hill folks. Mike DeVore and Brian Bell could be found at the hitchin' post as Marryin' Sam.

Candidates for Li'l Abner were Brian Bell, Jeff DeArmond, Ivan Lewis, Ed Malloy, and Wade Werth. Candidates for Daisy Mae were Dee Cherven, Nancy Colantonio, Vickie Dacy, Karen Farmer, and Julie Klapkowski. To climax the festivities, the beautiful Julie Klapkowski and the handsome Brian Bell were named Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner.

Marryin' Sam (Bucky Bell) puts his John Hancock on a marriage certificate for the happy couple—Judy Sanders and Mike (Waterhead) DeVore.

Mr. Greenjeans takes time out from the Captain Kangaroo Show to attend Gavit's social event of the year.

"How'd y'all like a nice swig a ma corn whiskey?" asks bootlegger Barb Bossinger to date Bill Klobuchar.

A mighty mountain of seniors.

Student Council treasurer, Chris Doloszycki, and class presidents, Dave Huneryager (Sr.), Jim Barton (Jr.), Andy Kmiec (Soph.), and Merrill Clark (Frosh), patiently await their turn to relate their experiences on their Community Chest Tour to faculty and student body.

Throughout the year, Gavit's musically talented performed both choral and instrumental concerts for the enjoyment of capacity audiences.

The instrumental groups made their debut in November with the orchestras and middle school bands performing for an audience. The music was rather heavy and serious. Included was a unique performance by a quartet playing recorders, instruments dating back to ancient times. In keeping with the holiday spirit the Concert Band gave "A Holiday Concert." Also, in what is becoming traditional, the high school orchestra accompanied the choral department for their annual Christmas concert.

The choral department launched their musical year with a fall concert consisting of mostly solemn, religious, and traditional songs. For their next concert, "Christmas is a Time for Song," the spirit was light and gay, as only the Christmas season can be.

The Junior Choir sings a selection of Christmas carols at the annual Christmas Concert.

Bob Stookey adds a touch of humor to the Christmas Concert with his impersonation of Santa Claus.

The choral department's annual Christmas Concert is aided by the orchestra.

The solemn portion of the Christmas Concert was presented by the Concert Choir.

The Gladiator Theater successfully presented "All My Darlings," a play by Thomas Byrnes. Similar to "Cheaper by the Dozen," the play is about a family, the Byrnes, who lives in a house infested with bees. The father wants a better life for his children, so he continually makes attempts to sell the house—much to the dismay to his wife and children.

An old German couple, the Kleinschmidts, are interested in moving and are shown different houses by the determined Van Ettig, the realtor. Meanwhile, Mr. Byrnes is fighting to keep his sanity as a result of anything from problems with his three scheming, stubborn daughters to his horse-sick son Tony.

After many comical incidents and a few touching ones, Mr. Byrnes finally ends up buying his original house from the Kleinschmidts, and everyone lives happily ever after—even the bees!

Van Ettig and Mr. Byrnes continue their heated argument over selling the house while Mrs. Byrnes and the Kleinschmidts warily look on.

The children tell their problems to Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Ryan, two sympathizing neighbors, who still insist that a clean house is a happy house.

Mrs. Endicott realizes with horror that Tortoni wants to blow her precious bees clear across Lake Michigan.

Annual One-Act Productions Success

Mary Ellen Hodges, Sally Marks, executes a quick change—and where else? on stage!

The Gladiator Theater, under the direction of Mr. Roland Unkuri, presented its annual production of three one-act plays.

Trifles is a murder mystery centering around the death of a farmer by his wife. A motive is what the investigators search for, but the ladies who come along to gather items for the imprisoned farmer's wife discover the true reason for the farmer's death.

The Bard of Bakersville High is a farce. In the course of production of the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet, the students of the drama department at Bakersville High take the meaning of the scene seriously and plan an elopement of the two main characters.

Finally, there is A Man Called Duddy, which takes place in Everett Fields' Funeral Home. At his own funeral, Douglas R. Cooper III, appears in spirit to philosophize about life. With the different visits of people to the funeral home, Duddy reacts to inform the audience of his opinions of the person.

Cheerleaders Direct School Spirit

Rallying enthusiasm from energetic crowds, cheerleaders fostered school spirit for the boys on Gavit's athletic teams.

B-team and varsity cheerleaders attended Smith-Walbridge camp for one week during the summer. They learned new cheers, chants, pom-pom routines, and tumbling techniques. The varsity cheerleaders won the "spirit stick" twice during the camp contest. This is the highest award given to cheerleaders.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Sandra Osteen, the girls excited more school pep by putting up clever signs in the halls and in the gym.

"S-I-N-K—Sink that shot!" says varsity cheerleader Pat Goldner.

"Gavit has Go-o-o-o-o Power!" declares Julie Klapkowski.

Junior Devida Houldson says, "Cheer, cheer for Gavit High!"

Varsity cheerleaders led a well-organized block of Gavit fans at the Hammond Sectional Semi-Finals.

"We've got spirit!" says captain of the varsity cheerleaders Linda Biancardi.

Novel Achievements, Features Expand Scroll

The 1969-70 Scroll expanded this year with the addition of new staff members, special features, more pictures and more frequent publications. The Scroll was printed by a photo-offset press. With the assistance of the graphic arts department, a new feature Council Corner, was added this year to keep students well-informed about the accomplishments and activities of the Student Council. The editor, Steve Penciak, and assistant editor, Robert Henry, expressed the Scroll's point of view on such topics as "School Spirit," "Legalization of Marijuana," "Gavit Coverage—Fact or Opinion?" and "Does GHS Prepare Students?"

In addition to those done on the paper, special achievements were done outside of the publications room. Three reporters attended a press conference in January conducted especially for Tommy James and the Shondells.

Varsity Gridders Fight a Tough Season

Hands outstretched, Newman leaps for the reception.

Gavit's varsity football squad, competing in the newly formed Indiana Lake Shore Conference, placed fifth in the conference with a record of three wins and four losses. The gridgers' wins came at the expense of Whiting, Hammond High, and East Chicago Washington. The victories over Hammond High and E.C. Washington were only the second ones recorded by Gavit teams against these two schools. Over all, the Gladiators finished the season three and six with non-conference losses coming at the hands of Chesterton and state-ranked Valparaiso.

Three-year veteran, senior Jay Berk, gained Tri-City All Star recognition as a defensive end. Senior quarterback Dave Budreau, offensive end Don Wilson, and junior halfback Terry Irk led the Glads in offensive statistics. "Butchers" Jerry Cameron and Jay Berk were the team's top tacklers. This past season was the last for Gavit's head football mentor, Mr. George Smith, who retired after ten years.

Staffed by a large group of returning letterwinners, Gavit's varsity hardcourt team posted the best season in seven years of competition with a record of fourteen wins and eight losses. The Glads rolled over TF North, Griffith, Highland, and Hobart in the season's initial four games. However, hopes for a perfect record were dashed in the fifth game by the visiting Lew Wallace Hornets who stung the Gladiators 68-54. The roundballers got back on track against Chesterton and proceeded to reel off five consecutive victories; the longest such streak in GHS history. Boasting a nine to one record, the Gladiators fell on hard times in the second half of the season winning only four of the last ten games. The wins were especially satisfying since each of the teams, Morton, Munster, Tech, and Whiting, had beaten last year's B-ballers. The victory over Munster gave the entire school "Homecoming Happiness."

The high point of the season occurred when Gavit captured its first Hammond Holiday Tourney title. The favored Glads accomplished the task via a 58-46 win over Tech and a 68-57 championship win over Hammond Clark.

Sectional time reawakened Gavit's desire for the state basketball crown. The GHS B-ballers took the right step opening night by squeaking past Hammond High by two points. However, Gavit boosters were disappointed in the semi-final game as the team lost to a vengeful Clark Pioneer Five, 90-60. Two returning forwards, Terry Irk and Dennis Hammers, will provide a nucleus for next year's team.

The Senior Class of '70 completed their last year of high school with a wide range of activities. The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance was sponsored by the Senior Class in November. The Washington Trip was a learning experience for the upperclassmen.

Seniors sported straw colored cords with dark brown accessories for weekly Monday attire. "A Letter to Santa" themed the float constructed by members of the Senior Class for the Hammond Christmas Parade.

Class of '70 held their spring party in March. With the last days of their high school years approaching, plans were made for the upcoming Senior week activities.

Wills & Testaments were written by members of the Senior Class wishing to leave behind their proud possessions. Prophecies were read for all members of the class at the Senior Banquet which was held at the Dorchester Inn in Illinois.

Juniors Prepare for Prom and College

Members of the class of '71 launched their first year as upper-classmen by receiving their class rings on September 19. As the October Football Homecoming drew near, Juniors decorated a float themed "We'll Reel in a Victory."

Looking toward the future, a majority of collegebound juniors took the PSAT, NMSQT, and the SAT tests. In addition, many received individual counseling in the guidance office.

Early in March, energetic Juniors rambled in the Intermural Home-room Volleyball Tournament. Later in March a class auction was held in order to appropriate more funds for class activities of the future.

On May 16 enthusiastic Juniors sponsored the 1970 Prom "In the Midst of Heaven" at the Marquette Park Pavilion in Gary.

As Football Homecoming neared, diligent sophomores decorated a float proclaiming "We're Expecting a Victory." The float featured a tall and proud stork plus a taped recording singing "Rock-a-bye Morton." The seniors and the sophomores both placed first in class float competition. This dilemma was a first in Gavit's history.

Enthusiastic sophomores increased their activities during the second semester. In February, sophs of good standing were permitted to order their class rings. In preparation for their prom in 1971 members of the class organized prom committees and selected a prom site. Activities later in the semester included a dance in May.

Officers directing the class of '72 this year were Andy Kmiec, President; John Kish, Vice-President; Ruth Karanovich, Secretary; and Rory Simms, Treasurer.

"Greenies" Adjust to Pace of Gavit Life

The new enthusiastic entrants to Gavit High School ambitiously prepared for such money-spending occasions as Prom, class homecoming floats and senior events; including the senior banquet. Freshmen first embarked on the traditional candy sale. However, problems immediately arose to set back the unfortunate salesmen as the delicious candy came in mislabeled boxes. When the industrious freshmen finally re-labeled the boxes, they found themselves two weeks behind schedule, but nevertheless had a profitable sale. Prizes lured freshmen into becoming super-salesmen. A record player and albums were awarded to the most successful candy vendor. The second place salesman received a record player only, and third place award won an ACDE transistor radio.

Endeavoring to earn even more money, the enterprising freshmen initiated a project never before attempted in the Calumet area. They sold tickets for Brown's chicken dinners.

Leading the freshmen class on to bigger and better things were Merrill Clark, president; Terri Zuffa, vice-president; Nancy Winkley, secretary; and Brad Black, treasurer.

"And they never could have done it" without class sponsors Mr. Donald Kopeneck and Mrs. Jeanne Moll.
